ANNUAL REPORT AND STATISTICAL REPORT OF THE AC- CESS TO INFORMATION ACT 2007-2008

INTRODUCTION

The Access to Information Act gives Canadian citizens the right to access information in federal government records.

The National Battlefields Commission (NBC) is a agency subject to the Access to information Act. However, because of the scope of the Commission's activities, there have been few, if any requests under the Access to information Act, as attested by earlier statistical reports.

The NBC derives its mandate and powers from a 1908 Act of the Parliament of Canada, the Act respecting The National Battlefields at Quebec, 7-8 Edward VII, ch 57, and its amendments.

The NBC was established to acquire the historic battlefields of the city of Quebec and neighbouring communities, to create a national battlefields park and to conserve, develop these historic and urban parks.

DESCRIPTION OF THE STRUCTURE

Requests under the Access to information Act are forwarded directly to the Commission's Secretary-Director General, who ensures that they are processed as promptly as possible.
